Projects and People

Whenever any event goes through its paces from start to finish, whenever a set up functions without any glitches, whenever any project meets all its goals from launch to conclusion, whenever a programme is pursued to the full satisfaction of both its stakeholders as well as stockholders and so on, apart from the members of the team contributing their mite, there is a kingpin on whom rests overall responsibility for the others to work in unison. Identified by many terms such as director, co-ordinator, in-charge and whatever, that person's identity has come to be bestowed a lacklustre title called Manager, apart from other avatars of the functionary such as Deputy Manager, Assistant Manager and Chief Manager. Except in rare cases, managers on whose shoulders rests the often diffusely stated responsibilities of managing get only brickbats for poor performance while credit or accolades for achieving total project success are conveniently sidelined.

Experience of working with teams, including members with no background of hands-on training or skill set, in moulding a person into an ideal manager, adept in knitting the workforce, is marked by many years on the job and perseverance. The area of managing all aspects of projects, including finance, human resources, materials, machinery and so on has emerged as Management Science in our times.

The incumbent Government at the Centre seems to be in top gear by launching a number of pro-people programmes in project mode, the Prime Minister virtually assuming the role of every project. His Cabinet colleagues, expected to provide their inputs for the success of every project, are required to don the roles of other aforementioned avatars of manager. The buck is passed by them first to the functionaries in top posts of the Government and next to their colleagues down the hierarchy. Thus, the portfolios assigned to managers at different levels top-down style, snowballing to a workforce comprising lakhs of managers, prompts one to recall the noting by a former President of the United States of America who wrote "The buck stops here," meaning every functionary to get down to work instead of passing the buck, a practice all too familiar in the land's bureaucracy.

The country is currently hosting more than a thousand colleges offering a course in Management Science. The national scenario relating to the army of graduates from these institutions is a bit disturbing considering the reported view of the country's industry circles that 99 per cent of the graduates in Management Science are unemployable. It behoves the industry to be proactive in the nation's project of creating managers who can manage in real sense of the term.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The debate about the relevance of religion is an ongoing one in the modern secular world. Let's first examine the wisdom and knowledge generated by the modern secular world. We get knowledge from our teachers, various books, movies, journals and newspapers. But however much we like a book or an article, after some time, we often forget its lesson. Sometimes, we even forget the title of the book. We surf the internet, talk to our friends, or search our bookshelves to reconnect with the book or the article to refresh our memory of its lesson. The same happens even with our favourite movies. With the passage of time, we forget the story, the protagonist, characters and the fine nuances of the plot. The modern secular world struggles with ways and means of retaining its knowledge and wisdom perhaps because we are so distracted by multitasking and our focus gets dissipated. — Tajender Singh Luthra in The Times of India

World's creepiest hiking trail

Atlanta: Doll's Head Trail, the 1.5-mile course lined with creepy doll heads that seem to be following you with their gaze as you walk by is probably the world's creepiest hiking trail. It is situated just outside the city of Atlanta, in Georgia.

Long before it became home to the world's creepiest hiking trail, Georgia's Constitution Park was a huge 19th century brick laying site. But that shut down half a century ago, giving nature the chance to reclaim it, along with the deep clay pits which have since been flooded with rain water and created the network of ponds known as Constitution Lakes. And despite being located just a few miles from downtown Atlanta, this natural haven is home to several species of wild birds and even big game like deer. But the thing Constitution Park is most famous for is its unique hiking trail, Doll's Head Trail.

Mayor dumps tonne of trash on beach for clean-up day

Seoul: A South Korean Mayor came under fire after revealing that he dumped a tonne of trash on a Pristine Beach so that hundreds of volunteers could clean it up the next day, in celebration of the International Coastal Cleanup Day. His office later apologised, saying that there wasn't any trash for people to pick up, and that they only did it to "raise awareness about the seriousness of coastal waste".

"We brought in waste styrofoam and other coastal trash gathered from nearby areas so the 600 participants could carry out clean-up activities," Lee Dong-jin, Mayor of Jindo county, said in a statement. He claimed that 100 percent of the trash had been cleaned up by and none of it ended up in the ocean.

Dong-jin said that the trash was dumped over the pristine sand of southwest Jindo. Can you imagine the world we're living in right now, where someone dumps trash on a clean beach just so eco-conscious volunteers would have something to pick up?

O Parvati! O Mother who rules those who bow down before Her! O Mother who blesses them with effulgence! O Mother who is the refuge for all the three worlds! O Mother who is of eternal existence! O wife of Parameshwara! O Mother who retains the three worlds as her three eyes! O embodiment of supreme prosperity! O embodiment of three supreme energies! Please cast Your compassionate cooling gaze on me.

'Hreem'- this mantra is very dear to Mother Goddess. It is also Her form. She resides in 'Hreem' mantra and 'Hreem' is also Her essence. 'Hreem' mantra contains Her complete essence.

Among Her innumerable names, 'Hreem' occupies the foremost position. She is easily pleased with those who meditate upon Her with this mantra and She fulfills all their desires. She rains boons upon them. She is supremely pleased with the worship offered along with the 'Hreem' mantra. "Hreem' is one among the five pranavas and hence is at par with Omkara. It bestows Supreme Knowledge upon the person.

Those who worship this Mother, who is an embodiment of Hreem mantra, with a totally pure mind, will effortlessly establish themselves in meditation. In them, the Mother Goddess destroys ignorance. She also destroys the subtle impressions of their past actions.

Ecstatic with the 'Hreem' mantra chanted by the devotee, She develops pure, untainted relationship with them. This is Her natural quality.

When must a devotee truly seek Her help? After he has put in his enormous efforts. When his efforts have failed to yield the desired result, he must request Her for help. 'O the Divine Mother is compassionate. Hence, She will take care of everything. There is nothing I need to do'- is incorrect attitude. Abstaining from work on this pretext is not only wrong, but is also harmful to the body.

When the crocodile caught elephant Gajendra by its feet, the elephant initially fought to the best of its abilities. Thereafter, it wonderfully glorified the Lord. It then beseeched the Lord for help. This is the method to be followed.

If instead of putting in our share of effort, is it right if we simply sit waiting for help and then rebuke the Lord saying, 'This Lord has no compassion. He is not showering His grace upon me. All my pujas have gone for a waste'. We must understand where we have erred in our efforts and must try to fill in those gaps. We must put in renewed efforts. Then we are sure to obtain Her grace.

Just as the mother holds the hand of the toddler who is falling at every step, the Divine Mother holds our hand and leads us forward.

The more we hear of Her glories, the more we are awestruck. Just as the Sun dispels the darkness of the night, the Divine Mother dispels the darkness called ignorance (ajnana) that exists within us. Just as the Sun destroys the lethargy in the entities, the Divine Mother destroys lethargy and ignorance in the entities.

The Sun causes the lotus to bloom, the Divine Mother causes the flower called Real Knowledge to bloom in us. There could be some darkness (tamas) that the Sun cannot dispel. But there is no darkness/ ignorance (tamas) which She fails to dispel.

She is 'Avyaaja-karuna-murti' i.e, of limitless compassion. By remembering Her, the devotee obtains everything. Therefore, listen to Her glories with total devotion. By listening to Her glories, the sin of listening to wicked words is erased.

Reverentially apply the Kumkum. With this, the sins committed by the body will be washed away. With a heart filled with devotion, sing Her glories. With this, even the worst of the sins gets burnt down.

Irrespective of whether the entity approaches Her or not, due to being filled with limitless compassion, She continues to lead them on the right path. She continues to protect them. She continues to sustain them. She continues to seek the well-being of all entities.

The Divine Mother has proclaimed, 'In every object that is seen and heard, in that place and within that object I exist. Simultaneously I also exist outside the object'.

She is the supreme existence. She is the Supreme Knowledge. She is the Pure consciousness. Before the creation commenced, She alone existed. There was no other existence.

Navaratris are the wonderful opportunity to worship the Divine Mother and to be uplifted with Her grace.

May Her grace ensure that this earth, which is replete with mountains, rivers, oceans, ponds, creepers, and herbs, remains unpolluted! May all the negative energies get destroyed! May the earth be replenished with energy to produce crops suited for all forms of life!

It's a cake walk for Arjuna to carry Golden Howdah

These men prepare Gaadhi and Namdha to provide cushioning effect against 750-kg Howdah's weight

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

Mysuru, Oct. 4- Jumboo Savari, the grand finale of Dasara festival, is no doubt the prime attraction in Mysuru especially when the 750-kg Golden Howdah is carried by the mighty Arjuna. Many are unaware of the intricate preparations to be made before the Howdah could be mounted on the back of the elephant.

The howdah is actually placed on a thick mattress which is fastened to the back of the elephant using jute ropes. With just five days to go for the grand Jumboo Savari on Oct. 8, two Mahouts are busy preparing Gaadhi and Namdha for Arjuna, in Palace premises.

Experienced Mahouts Pasha and Zakaullah are fully engaged in making the two items at the space in front of Sri Kodi Someshwara Temple. The Gaadhi and Namdha, which provide a cushion against the weight of the Golden Howdah, are traditionally in use for decades.

The Gaadhi is prepared using grass grown on water tank beds and it provides a cushioning effect and also protects the elephant from getting injured during the nearly 5-kilometre-long procession route.

The Gaadhi making requires special skills and Pasha and Zakaullah are experts in that. While Zakaullah retired several years ago after serving as a Mahout for female elephant Chaitra, Pasha too has retired from service as Sarala's Mahout.

The Gaadhi measures 6 ft in length and 5 ft in width and will have a square-shaped hole at the centre which helps perfect placing of the Howdah on top of the elephant.

The making of Gaadhi

A good 20 days before the Jumboo Savari, grass grown on river and tank beds are collected and dried in sunlight. As the grass is soft, it does not absorb moisture. The dried grass is later stuffed in cut gunny bags and then stitched to ensure that the bag does not open up at any point of time.

The Namdha, which is in the shape and size of a bed having 6 inch thickness, is made using a coconut ingredient. After the Gaadhi is kept atop the elephant, the Namdha is placed on it and covered with Joola, a type of decorative cloth. Chapu is the top most layered thick cloth cover.

The three layer mattresses provide a firm soft support for the Howdah and make the bearer elephant comfortable to carry the heavy load for a good distance

Zakaullah and Pasha, who have been in Gaadhi and Namdha making business after their retirement, are now training other Mahouts and Kavadis in making them. Their passion for the job and love of elephants has been recognised by the Forest Department which calls them every year for the job.

The two, who are nearly 75 years old, do not want the art to die and as such, a good amount of training is provided to other Mahouts and Kavadis. They both also weave the thick jute rope from strands which takes about three days to make.

VOICE OF THE READER

Carpet-wallahs encroach footpaths

Sir,

The footpaths in most places of our city have been encroached by all kinds of people who sell all types of wares, as the City Corporation and Police do not enforce the rules strictly. As a result, the pedestrians suffer inconvenience and accidents.

There's a new and a well-organised group from outside the State, operating for some years now (can be called as 'Carpet mafia'), occupying vantage places on the footpaths and other places, selling carpets. No one can miss them, as their wares are hanging all over the city. As selling carpets is different from, for example, selling guavas or panipuri, the salesmen of these carpets are often seen relaxing alongside their carpets and other items in different postures — waiting for their bait (see pic). This sort of thing is disturbing and not 'Mysuru culture'. We should not encourage it at any cost.

Every one has a right to make their living, but should the authorities allow these people to disfigure our beautiful city?

Can we expect some quick action from the authorities, as Dasara is on and as we do not want to see the carpets hanging everywhere? Mysuru City has to live upto its 'Heritage City' tag and many other sobriquets associated with it. It would be futile and not just to expect these carpet-wallahs to have any knowledge about it !

Mysuru, Oct.4- As part of Dasara festival, Chitra Santhe and Hasiru Santhe will be held on Krishnaraja Boulevard in city tomorrow (Oct.5) from 9 am.

Announcing this at a press meet at his office here yesterday, DC Abhiram G.Sankar said that the Chitra Santhe-Hasiru Santhe has been organised jointly by the District Administration, Tourism Department, Dasara Tourism Sub-Committee and Agriculture Department. Pointing out that the event will take place from 9am to 5 pm tomorrow, the DC said that traffic movement on the stretch from Oriental Research Institute to Maharaja's College Grounds (near Ursu Boarding School) has been banned during the event.

Continuing, the DC said that the Chitra Santhe will feature painting, drawing, photography, sand art, calligraphy, face painting, murals and paintings on Swachhata awareness. Hasiru Santhe will feature workshops, rangageetha, folk singing, magic show and dance forms.

Noting that the event will have 100 stalls, the DC said that organic grains, millets and cereals will be available for sale. The event also features two sessions of cultural programmes from 10 am to 11.30am and from 3 to 5pm, he added. He further said that traffic movement on KR Boulevard will be restored after 5 pm for the benefit of Yuva Dasara and Aahara Mela visitors.

Traffic diversion on KR Boulevard

With Chitra Santhe and Hasiru Santhe taking place, City Police have banned the movement of all vehicles on the stretch (South wards) from Kautilya Circle to Ekalavya Circle tomorrow (Oct. 5) from 9 am to 5 pm.

Vehicles arriving at Kautilya Circle have to pass through MUDA Circle to touch JLB Road and proceed further.

Vehicles arriving at Ekalavya Circle have to pass through Chamaraja Double Road to reach Ramaswamy Circle and proceed further.

Dancing without limits
These children show how

Speically-abled children are seen performing dance to a patriotic song as part of Mahila and Makkala Dasara programme at J.K. Grounds, here yesterday.

Mysuru, Oct. 4 (PM&VNS)- Specially-abled children had a gala time at J.K. Grounds yesterday morning where Mahila and Makkala Dasara was organised. Students of 15 special schools across the city and more than 18 organisations took part in the event and exhibited their talent.

Special kids performed group dance and solo dance to some popular patriotic songs. Almost all the songs were dedicated to the Nation and its marked achievements and programmes.

Some of them dressed as soldiers marched across the stage and also performed acrobats with ropes. More than 40 children of Arunodaya Special Children's School and their parents association stole the show with scintillating performances.

Gangadhar of Deaf and Dumb School, Tilaknagar performed solo Bharatanatyam much to the entertainment of the audience. Despite being 90 percent visually impaired and 50 percent hearing impaired, Gangadhar was perfect in his moves. He had obtained training from Vidu. Meghana. Hailing from T. Narasipur Taluk, Gangadhar is the son of Gavisiddaiah and Shivamma. He studies in sixth standard. Inaugurating the programme, District Minister V. Somanna said that he was impressed to see special children performing on stage and added that the Government will do everything to see that the facilities announced for such children reach them on time.

Later, children with hearing impairment performed a dance that was well appreciated by the people present. The children dressed as ISRO Launch Vehicle, Satellite, Goddess Saraswathi and others took part in the fancy dress event.

The Sub-Committee has announced Rs. 5,000 honorarium for groups that took part in the cultural programmes.

Minister, MP and Mayor play a dicey game

Mysuru, Oct. 4 (MTY,US&BCT)- It is obvious that it is increasingly harder for traditional games to compete against the ever-growing invasion of screens around houses and swanky gadgets that grab the attention of children, youths and adults.

Televisions, smartphones computers, gaming consoles — houses are full of electronics within the reach of children that offer many different interactive entertainment options. Thanks to technology, fun with parents and in the street with their friends, playing classic games that have entertained so many previous generations have been forgotten.

Traditional games offer great benefits like physical activity, social skills, creativity, imagination, competition, camaraderie and many more. Quite simply, traditional games stimulate growth, physically as well as intellectually. Moreover, they will also help make friends.

Keeping the above benefits in mind, Dasara Desi games were organised by the Department of Heritage, Archaeology and Museums in association with Dasara Heritage Sub-committee at Dasara Exhibition Grounds last morning. It received an overwhelming response with pre-registered entries that numbered more than 600. There was no spot registration.

The event was conducted under the age groups of 10 to 16 years, 17 to 25 and above 25 years. Boys and girls, young men and women, besides adults vied with each other in their respective categories in indoor games such as Pagade (dice game), Snake and Ladder, Aliguli Mane and Chowka Bhara as well as outdoor games such as Hide and Seek, Hopscotch or Kunte Bille, Tug of War, Marbles, Bow and Arrow, Three-Legged Race, Chinni Daandu or Gilli Daandu, Top (Buguri) and Sack Race.

Interestingly, at the inauguration, District Minister V. Somanna, MP Pratap Simha and Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath kept aside their party barriers and enthusiastically played the game of dice. They were surrounded by BJP leaders H.V. Rajeev, M.V. Ravishankar, M. Rajendra and others. Somanna, Simha and Pushpalatha played their moves deftly, attracting peals of laughter and witty comments from the onlookers.

Seeing the huge number of participants, the organisers decided to have eight people on either side to play tug of war so as to complete the event early. With too much of pressure applied, the rope snapped twice. With no way out, the strength of participants was reduced to four on either-side and the game went on smoothly.

Dasara Special Interview

The Real Rockstar

He is among the elite group of singers who have created a sensation in the world of music. Having been widely followed across the world, Mohit Chauhan is one such singer who has been able to captivate the pulse of the youth with a mixture of modern-day music and Sufi. He also has the credit of singing the entire album of the movie 'Rockstar.'

Star of Mysore met the 'Rockstar' at Hotel Radisson Blu Plaza just before he headed to Maharaja's College Grounds for his 'Yuva Dasara' concert on Wednesday. Excerpts...

By S.N. Venkatnag Sobers

> Mysuru is really clean and I wish the entire country replicates Mysuru

Star of Mysore (SOM): Firstly, welcome to Mysuru. And is this your first visit?

Mohit Chauhan: Thank you very much for the welcome and I am really happy to be here for Dasara. I have heard so much about this beautiful city and yes, this is my first visit to Mysuru.

SOM: Having started your career through 'Silk Route' you have established yourself as one of the most sought-after playback singer. How has the journey been?

Mohit Chauhan: I started my journey through a band called 'Silk Route' and fortunately the first album was a huge hit. Later, I started getting calls and I have worked with some of the best music composers like A.R. Rahman. I have also rendered songs in many languages like Kannada, Tamil, Telugu, Bengali and Gujarati.

SOM: How easy or difficult is it for a playback singer to record a song?

Mohit Chauhan: It is not easy for a singer to record a song in just a couple of hours. You need to portray the emotions in the given language. At times, it is difficult. But I have been lucky to have worked with good people and because of my music I get to travel across world.

SOM: Not many singers get a chance to record an entire album for a movie. You have recorded nine songs for 'Rockstar.' How was the experience?

Mohit Chauhan: One singer recording for the entire movie album used to happen a long time back. In recent times, a singer gets to record one or two songs. 'Rockstar' has been a milestone so far in my musical career and it was also based on a musician. I saw the songs being developed from a scratch with lyricist Irshad Kamil, Director Imtiaz Ali, Ranbir Kapoor and sometimes A.R. Rahman sitting together to make the songs. It was like a workshop for an entire year. It's like once-in-a-life-time opportunity.

SOM: What is the most important factor for a singer while recording songs in other languages?

Mohit Chauhan: It is challenging. Though you do not know the language, you need to feel the emotions. When I am recording songs in any other languages there is somebody to tell me the correct pronunciation. A singer must become a part of the song and the movie.

SOM: You have been associated with many social causes.

Mohit Chauhan: I am associated with Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev for 'Cauvery Calling.' I am honoured because he sings songs that I have recorded with me sometimes. I am also involved in a few organisations which work for animal welfare and cultural exchange. Recently, I was invited to Mongolia for a cultural exchange programme.

SOM: Tell us about your future projects.

Mohit Chauhan: I have joined hands with some musicians from Africa and the music should be out soon. I am also working on an album for which I have completed rough recording and will be travelling for concerts too.

SOM: What is your opinion on the ban imposed on artistes from Pakistan?

Mohit Chauhan: Music does not have any barriers. But then we have had problems with our neighbour and India's sentiment has to be respected. I was in Mumbai when the 26/11 happened and there have been killings at LoC every other day. I think it is fine to exert pressure on the troublesome neighbour to stop terrorism.

SOM: Having not been trained in any form of music, what inspired you to try your hands in this field?

Mohit Chauhan: I have always been a science student. I have completed my M.Sc. (Geology). Music has been in my blood. I am fortunate to enter this field.

SOM: Your message for Dasara.

Mohit Chauhan: Mysuru is really clean and I wish the entire country replicates Mysuru. And my message to the youth would be to make our country a better place, work towards protecting environment and animals. We being a special race, it is our responsibility to protect our natural resources.

City Night Viewing

from Chamundi Hill only till 10 pm

Tourists upset over Police move but Cops say restriction necessary to maintain law and order

Mysuru, Oct. 4 (LNY,RK&BCT)- Ninety-kilometres of Mysuru is illuminated for Dasara and there is no better place than the Chamundi Hill to view the vast expanse of the city sparkling like diamonds on the ground. It is truly a sight to behold and tourists, along with the residents, are queuing up the Hill to have a view to please their senses.

So much is the rush that people are sitting at the two View Points and other vantage points atop the Hill as early as 4.30 pm to view the breath-taking and colourful hues. However, many tourists are disappointed as according to them the City Police is playing a spoilsport by not allowing them to have a proper view.

TOURISTS DISAPPOINTED

Star of Mysore got a couple of calls this morning from tourists who alleged that they were driven off the Hill midway and the Police did not allow them to watch the illumination, despite several requests. "We have come from Kurnool in Andhra Pradesh to see the illuminated city as a lot of it has been written in newspapers and websites. However, we were not allowed to see the views," complained Satish Reddy who had come along with his 7-member family in two vehicles.

Tourists said that the crowd at the View Point is beyond manageable limits and people do not move after seeing the city. "People just stay there for hours denying the chance for others. Moreover, the Police are a killjoy and we were warned not to stay in the Hill," complained Sudha Chandrashekhar, who had driven her car from Whitefield in Bengaluru.

All the View Points and the boundary walls, Gaali Mantapa are full of people till night. First they seek the blessings of Goddess Chamundeshwari and squat on the parapet walls to see the illumination that is between 6 pm and 10 pm. The lights are switched off at 10 pm. Only on Oct. 7 and 8, the lightings will be up till 11 pm.

POLICE JUSTIFY MOVE

Reacting on the public criticism, Krishnaraja Police Inspector L. Srinivas told SOM that the Police are only taking precautionary measures. "From 6 am to 10 pm there are no restrictions and we are not imposing any rule. We have the responsibility of giving everyone a chance to view the lightings and that is why we are controlling the crowd," he said. The Krishnaraja Police is responsible for Chamundi Hill security.

The illuminated Gaali Mantapa atop Chamundi Hill.

"A lot of people come to the Hill after dark and they put loud music in their cars and dance, creating a nuisance. Also, it is unsafe to squat on the parapet walls as accidents might happen. Incidents like drunken behaviour, eve teasing and other unruly behaviours have forced us to ban people after 10 pm. If we allow people beyond 10 pm, there will be law and order problem," he said.

FORCES ATOP HILL

As a precautionary measure, the Police have deployed 2 KSRP vans with two platoons with 20 soldiers each and two Garuda vehicles are stationed atop the Hill that constantly monitors and conduct recce. "We are here to maintain law and order and we are sticklers for rules and we do not allow entry to Chamundi Hill after 10 pm (except for Chamundi Hill villagers who have been given ID cards) and all those who stay beyond 10 pm are being vacated. We want to put curbs on illegal and immoral activities," Srinivas added.

City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna said that the Chamundi Temple closes at 9 pm and the illumination is off at 10 pm. "Some people come here just to create nuisance and we are enforcing rules only after 10 pm to ensure law and order. We have taken this step for the safety of tourists and they must co-operate," he added.

Albumen endurance: Man eats 6 eggs in 30 seconds!

Kaushik (Green T-shirt-extreme left) won the egg eating competition by consuming six eggs in 30 seconds at the boiled egg eating competition organised at Dasara Food Mela yesterday.

Mysuru, Oct. 4 (MK&BCT)- The 1967 film 'Cool Hand Luke' tells the story of a man (played by Paul Newman) in prison for vandalism who refuses to be a cog in the wheel of the system. Inside the prison, he earns respect by demonstrating abilities of leadership and endurance. One of the feats of endurance is his task of eating 50 hard-boiled eggs within an hour.

Would it be possible for a man to really eat 50 eggs in less than an hour? Yes. Going by the record created at yesterday's boiled egg competition organised as part of Dasara Aahara Mela where a man ate 6 eggs in just 60 seconds, it is quite possible to eat 50 eggs in one hour. Of course, you have to possess that appetite to digest 50 eggs in one go and bear its effects on your stomach and digestive systems. And more importantly, you must not choke.

The Aahara Mela egg eating competition was organised at Scouts and Guides Grounds and Kaushik of Srirangapatna, with quite ease, ate 6 eggs in just 30 seconds. Audience cheered as he ate the eggs one by one and bagged the first prize. The hard-boiled eggs were peeled and kept ready for the competitors to eat and a glass of water was placed before them.

The second prize was bagged by Prajwal of Chamarajanagar while Manjunath from Hunsur stood third. Interestingly, all the three participants ate 6 eggs each and Kaushik was the fastest among them.

Later speaking to reporters, said that he has been participating in different Dasara competitions since 2016. "I have participated in cooking competitions held for men and have won the second place," he said.

Grand procession marks Srirangapatna Dasara

Srirangapatna, Oct.4(Vinay Karekura)-A colourful procession accompanied by a host of folk troupes marked the launching of the 3-day Dasara at Srirangapatna on Thursday.

Former CM and BJP leader S.M. Krishna inaugurated the festival by offering floral tributes to the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari at Bannimantap in Kirangoor. Dasara elephant Abhimanyu carried the Howdah and walked majestically in the procession, accompanied by Kumki elephants Vijaya and Cauvery.

Mandya District In-charge Minister R. Ashoka performed Banni puja, while a team of priests led by Dr. Bhanuprakash Sharma performed pujas.

The Jamboo Savari passed through Kirangoor, Baburayanakoppalu, Kuvempu Circle, Raja Beedhi and Post Office Circle, before reaching Sri Ranganagthaswamy Temple covering a distance of over 4kms.

There were over 20 tableaux from various departments.

Mandya DC Dr.M.V. Venkatesh, ADC T. Yogesh, SP Parashuram and other officials were present.

The procession disrupted traffic on the ever busy Mysuru-Bengaluru road for sometime, with thousands of people thronging the entire procession route.

For the first time, local MLA (Ravindra Srikantaiah) abstained from the event and so also Mandya MP Sumalatha and other MLAs from the district.

Jumboo Savari tickets still out of reach

Mysuru, Oct. 4 (RK&VNS) - The plight of people waiting to purchase Jumboo Savari and Torchlight Parade tickets has gone from bad to worse on day-2 with officials continuing to play hide-and-seek at the Deputy Commissioner's Office.

After witnessing a chaotic situation yesterday, officials had informed that tickets would be on sale from 10 am this morning, but the counter remained closed despite 12 noon. Irate public started raising voice against the authorities. Later, the Police had to intervene to bring the situation under control. Later, an official stated that the tickets would be available from 3pm.

Barricades being erected to regulate Dasara crowd
